real morals or values. You can't go to church and hear the message being preached. It has been a long time since that happened. So we look for another outlet. We look for a way to fill that void. As people we are out there looking for a special someone. We are looking for a soul mate. Or maybe we want to go through life making friends and getting married. We are trying to fill that void with the promise of a great love. We are all looking for someone to fill that void that is left by ourselves. And all we are doing is clinging to an illusion and not what is real. So when I was feeling down this lady brought me the most delicious, fluffy and savory scones. She gave me a chance to fill a void. Not only did she bring me the scones, but she gave me a chance to fill my void. On the official website of the United Arab 2d92ce491b
